Refined Sugar

Refined sugar comes from cane or beets is usually sucrose, the combination of glucose and fructose. White and brown sugars are used to sweeten cakes and cookies, coffee and cereal. Food manufacturers add other sugars, such as high-fructose corn syrup, to foods and beverages, including crackers, flavored yogurt, tomato sauce and salad dressing. Low-fat foods may often have high sugar content to add flavor lost by reducing fat.

Refined Sunflower Oil and Corn Oil

Sunflower Oil - Rich in Omega-6 fatty acids and vitamin E, which is indispensable in all kitchens. Sunflower oil can be used in all kinds of dishes, salads, and desserts. Stands out with the taste it brings to the fries. In addition, sunflower oil also helps to reveal the aroma of the foods.

Sizes Available : 1 litre, 2 litre, 4 litre, 5 litre, and 18 litre

Corn Oil - The unique flavor can be used in hot dishes, desserts, and fried foods with peace of mind. It does not lose its properties even at long-term temperatures.

Sizes Available : 1 litre, 2 litre, 4 litre, 5 litre, and 18 litre

Jasmine Rice

Thai Jasmine Rice 100 % Premium Quality. It is moist and soft in texture when cooked, with a slightly sweet flavor. Sticky when cooked, though less sticky than glutinous rice, as it has less amylopectin. It is about three times stickier than American long-grain rice.
